Art, in any medium, is a vehicle for communication. Through narrative and conceptual contemporary art, I explore spirituality and prophetic notions, aiming to reveal the miraculous and inspire with thought-provoking concepts—making the invisible visible.

With a background in Fine Art and Music from the University of Cincinnati, I spent over a decade as a singer/songwriter, choreographer, and performance artist, co-owning a band that blended theatrical and musical expression. This experience shaped my distinctive artistic approach.

For the past seventeen years, I have created multiple bodies of work, exhibited widely, and owned my own art gallery and production studio. As co-founder of Rowland Augur Fine Art with metalsmith Daniel Augur, we won multiple international art awards, including Sculptor of the Year 2012 at Art Comes Alive, ADC, Cincinnati OH.

Having relocated to Sarasota, Florida in 2021, my family and I have a full-scale art production studio, producing innovative work and serving my clients' artistic needs.
